Copper Canyon Academy in Arizona Recommended by Dr. Phil

CERRITOS, Calif., Feb. 8 /PRNewswire/ -- Aspen Education Group's Copper Canyon Academy, an Arizona-based residential boarding school for girls, was featured February 7 on the nationally syndicated "Dr. Phil" show. Dr. Phil referred to Copper Canyon Academy as "one of the nation's top therapeutic boarding schools for girls" when he recommended it as part of a comprehensive therapeutic solution for a troubled, runaway teen. Aspen Education Group is the nation's leading provider of education programs that improve the quality of life for underachieving children, young adults and their families.

"We are extremely pleased that Dr. Phil has continued to recommend and utilize Aspen's therapeutic programs for teens in need of life-changing interventions and believe it is a testament not only to the quality of Aspen's programs but to the diversity of our services," said Mark Hobbins, senior vice president of customer service of Aspen Education Group.

"Our daughter had been increasingly out of control for many months; but when she disappeared for four months, we knew that she was desperate and needed an immediate intervention," said Linda Bien, a parent from New Hampshire. "We are grateful to Dr. Phil for assisting us with that intervention and recommending a special boarding school like Copper Canyon Academy. Not only do they offer an individualized academic program, but they provide group and individual counseling in a safe and secure environment where young girls can find self-confidence and emotional nurturing."

Copper Canyon Academy is a licensed therapeutic boarding school for girls ages 13 to 17 who are seeking an opportunity to make positive changes in their lives and overcome feelings of low self-esteem, depression or anger due to family conflicts, substance abuse, or academic underachievement. Copper Canyon Academy is noted for its unique equine therapy program that allows students to learn empathy and enhance self-confidence and for its academic program, which is fully accredited by North Central Association for Schools and Colleges.

As the nation's largest and most comprehensive network of therapeutic schools and programs, Aspen Education Group offers families and professionals the opportunity to choose a setting that best meets a student's unique academic and emotional needs. An industry innovator, Aspen was voted among the top education companies by Eduventures, the leading independent education industry research firm. In addition to being featured on "Dr. Phil," Aspen and its programs have been profiled by major news and television organizations around the world, including: CNN, the New York Times, Los Angeles Times Magazine, U.S. News & World Report, USA Today, National Public Radio, "Dateline NBC," NBC "Today," ABC's "Good Morning America," and in several documentaries, newspapers and talk shows in the United Kingdom.
