Gentlemen;

This office represents O.P.I. with respect to litigation and the protection of the organization and its principals and staff from being victimized by malicious defamation including libel, slander, invasion of privacy and other harmful and illegal innuendos and behavior.

Your recent publication directed at impugning the reputation of O.P.I. and its members is clearly defamatory, damaging and actionable. Your ill advised message seeks to impugn cult behavior to the organization and it violates the rights of privacy of not only the staff of O.P.I., but also the privacy and confidentiality of its participants. To the extent that you again attempt to defame our client or its staff and participants, and to the extent that you violate their right of privacy and confidentiality, or attempt to interfere with its business relationships, you will be held legally accountable.

If you know anything about litigation or defamation and violation of the rights of privacy and patient- psychotherapist privileges, and negligent interference with business relationships, then you must know that your behavior is provocative and actionable and that damages, not to mention the very cost of litigation, is a deterrent to such unconscionable behavior.
