

Attention viewers: "desperate for correspondance!" Woops! Did I say that out loud? I meant correspondance wanted! Im looken to try something new!
Meeting people via the internet has never been my strong suit. Partially because of my corny pick up lines and partially because I find it hard to connect with people I know nothing about and have spent no kind of bonding moments with. which is why Ive agreed to step outside my comfort zone and explore another avenue of meeting people. I think this is an awesome oppertunity to meet people in a way different than the way Im accustomed to. It's a way to learn more about a person that you know nothing about using a process that involves a little bit of patience. Now I would like to tell you a little bit about the man behind the pen!
My name is Thomas but I go by Tommy or Tom for short. Im 27, white, blonde hair, blue eyes, and kind of pleasant on the eyes! 1.0.1! Born and raised in the silver state (Nevada). Reno has been home for the majority of my life! As it currently stands Im serving a 3 to 8 year sentence for burglary. so their you have it, Ive given you the bare minimum about myself in hopes that Ive said enough to intrigue the reader to want to learn more about the mystery man behind the walls. Take a leap of faith and enjoy yourself, as will I! Talk to you soon!

(please see other side)
